State of Massachusetts
Essex County

On this twenty-third day of September A.D. 1852, Personally appeared before the Honorable Henry W. Bishop Judge of the Court of Common Pleas for the county aforesaid, holden at Newburyport, Mary Jones of Essex (formerly Chibacco, and then a part of Norwich) in the county and Commonwealth aforesaid, who being first sworn according to law, doth on oath make the following Declaration in order to obtain the benefit of the Act of Congress passed June 7th 1832, entitled "An Act supplementary to the act for the relief of certain surviving officers and soldiers of the Revolution" together with the Regulations of Congress under said act applicable to children for the unclaimed pensions due to their deceased fathers:— that she is the daughter of Samuel Loomby, alias Samuel Loomby junior who served as a private in the war of the Revolution, as follows, viz. Eight months in Capt William de Ballard's company in Col. Foyes regiment and six months in the company of Capt David Loomby and Col. <sup>or Col. (Capt)</sup> Joseph Bartlett's Regiment—the former term of service being in the year 1775 as appears by the accompanying certificate of the Secretary of the State of Massachusetts; and the latter term of service being in the year 1776, as the declarant believes will appear from the certificate of the Secretary of the State of New Hampshire, and the Affidavit of Anna Loomby both hereto answered said two terms of service making in all fourteen months. She further says that her said father Samuel was appropriately called Samuel Leimby Junior in New Hampshire, because his father's name was Samuel, and he resided in Kingston in that State; while in Massachusetts there being no other of that name, as the declarant after diligent inquiry, believes, he was called Samuel Leimby.

She further declares that said Samuel died in this town on the 29th day of June A.D. 1833, aged seventy three years, leaving the following children and no others, viz. Sally (Currier) of Norwich (Vermont), Nancy (Lee) of New York City - Abigail of Essex (Mass), Mary (Jones) the declarant of said Essex and Hannah (Smith) of Boston (Mass) all of whom, excepting Abigail are married, and all living as the declarant believes.

She further declares, that she has never before made any application for a Pension on account of the services of her said father, and that her said father was not in his life time on the Pension Roll of any State District or Territory, also that the said Samuel's widow never made application for a pension, having been married to said Samuel in 1796 and consequently not entitled by any law previous to her death in 1841. Mary Jones Sworn to and subscribed this twenty-third day of September A.D. 1852. And the said Court do hereby declare their opinion, after the investigation of the matter, that Samuel Leimby alias Samuel Leimby Junior above named, was a soldier of the Revolution.

Judge of the Court of Common Pleas.

I, Asahel Huntington, Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas in and for the County of Essex and State of Massachusetts, do hereby certify that the foregoing contains the original proceedings of the said Court in the matter of the application of Mary Jones for a Pension.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed my official seal, this twenty third day of September, A. D. 1852.

Clerk.

I Hannah Hardy, of Newburyport, in the county of Essex and State of Massachusetts, aged 74 years, being duly sworn, on oath depose and say that I personally knew Garrison Dundy from a revolutionary soldier that he was born and lived till the revolution was in that part of Kingston, formerly called Hawkes, now Danville in New Hampshire. I further depose and say that said Samuel was my brother, and that our father's name was Samuel Dundy and that he lived till after the close of the war.

I further declare that after diligent enquiry, I never knew any other person, or heard of any other person except my father and brother of the name of Samuel Dundy. I further depose and say that my father was never in the army, and I also declare that I have no pecuniary interest in the matter of the pension for which the children of my said brother are about applying.

We, Joshua Burnham and Anna Burnham, both of Essex in this county of Essex and State of New-Hampshire, of lawful age to testify, on oath depose and say that we were personally acquainted with Samuel Quincy by late of Essex before said deceased, that he was reputed and believed in this neighborhood to have been a soldier of the Revolution, and that we concur in their opinion; we further depose and say that after his revolutionary service he resided from Kingston in New-Hampshire, to this town as he uniformly represented to us, as we fully believe said town of Essex being then called Hebescopek in Ipswich; we further depose and say that after coming to this town, he was twice married, and by his first-wife left three children, viz. Sally (Loring) Nancy (Lee) and Abigail - and by his second wife he left two children, viz.
Mary (Jones) and Hannah (Smith). We further depose and say that said Samuel Quincy died on the 27th day of June A. D. 1833, leaving a widow to whom he was married in 1796, and who died in 1841.
We also say and declare that the above named children of said Samuel Quincy are all that survive him and that they are all now living according to the best of our knowledge and belief.

Samuel Quimby
S. 30050

Dear Sir:

Reference is made to your letter in which you request the Revolutionary War record of Samuel Quimby, who was born in Kingston, New Hampshire, in 1759, and died in Essex, Massachusetts, in 1833.

The data which follow were obtained from the papers on file in pension claim, S. 30050, based upon service of Samuel Quimby in the Revolutionary War.

Samuel Quimby, son of Samuel Quimby, was born in Kingston, Rockingham County, New Hampshire, and lived there with his father at the time of the Revolutionary War. The name of his mother was not given.

Samuel, the son, enlisted in the spring of 1775 and served eight months as private in Captain William Ballard's company, Colonel James Frye's Massachusetts regiment, a part of the time in the vicinity of Cambridge; He enlisted in 1776, and served six months as private in Captain David Quimby's (Quimby's) company, Colonel Josiah Bartlett's New Hampshire regiment, during which he went to Ticonderoga. No relationship between Samuel and this Captain David Quimby (Quimby) was stated.

After the close of the Revolutionary War, the soldier moved from Kingston, New Hampshire, to Ipswich parish, Massachusetts, the part which was called later Essex.

The soldier married twice after his removal to Massachusetts; he married first, Sally Allen, of Manchester, and went with her once to visit in Kingston, New Hampshire. The names of her parents and the date of her death were not given. He married in 1796, his second wife, whose name was not given; she died in Essex, Massachusetts, in 1841, day not shown.

In 1853, the names of the surviving children of Samuel Quimby were listed as follows: those by his first wife—Sally Carrier, of Norwich, Vermont, Nancy Lee, of New York City, and Abigail (Abby) Quimby, of Essex, Massachusetts; those by his second wife, Mary Q. Jones, of Newburyport, Essex County, Massachusetts, and Hannah Smith, of Boston, Massachusetts.

One David Choate, of Essex, Massachusetts, was administrator of the estate of the soldier, in 1853.

Mary Jones, the daughter cited above, applied September 23, 1853, for the pension which was due on account of the service of her father, Samuel Quimby, in the Revolutionary War. She applied in behalf of herself and the other surviving children, listed above. Pension was allowed.

In 1853, the soldier's sister, Hannah Hardy, was a resident of Newburyport, Massachusetts, aged seventy-four years. Anna Quimby, another sister, resided then in Danville (formerly a part of Kingston), New Hampshire, and was aged then ninety-two years of age.

There are no further data regarding the children of this soldier in the papers on file in this claim.

Very truly yours,

A. D. HILLER,
Executive Assistant to the Administrator.
